FINDING SOLUTIONS TO NAVIGATE THE STORM

The country is going through trying times at the moment and with this and current issues, we at Croydon SocialP are still determined to find ways to (remotely and interactively) support our community and continue to connect people.

With this in mind, please make use of the Croydon SocialP Community Resource pack to try and aid you all in this time.

As you will see the pack consists of useful information and advice on:

- Educational Support for families
- Practical support for those isolated in the community
- Online activities
- Buddying and local volunteering support
- Ability to feedback and ask for other advice

Although the NHS and your GPs are currently very busy with COVID-19 it is important to remember that other conditions and illnesses still exist and can still affect us. We request you avoid contacting us about non-urgent or non-important matters but if it is urgent or important please don't feel you can't ask for help just because of what is happening. You will have to make the call about whether you feel it is important or urgent but we would rather you asked than suffered in silence. Please be prepared to answer screening questions about COVID-19 and expect to be called in most cases rather than coming in unless you and your GP both feel you absolutely need to.

We hope this helps, keep well and stay safe,

The Team at Croydon SocialP

CROYDON SOCIALP OFFER

Croydon SocialP have been mentoring and supporting Croydon Link Workers and PCNs to connect patients to local non clinical support for over 2 years. As a team, it has been decided that we will not let this current crises prevent us from supporting patients' health and wellbeing.

Therefore we want to offer GP surgeries, patients and communities support over the telephone and connection to online groups, support, donations and a way for us all to maintain our mental health during this period of isolation.

We are supporting Link Workers and PCNs to be able to identify and contact vulnerable or isolated patients to local support including:

- Food Banks
- Food delivery
- Croydon COVID 19 mutual support networks
- Online social groups and events
- Online exercise sessions
- Virtual Mindfulness sessions

If you wish to take up this offer:

- Please identify isolated and vulnerable patients from your surgery's database.
- Provide your Link Worker with telephone numbers for patients (many of whom do not have access to IT or the internet).
- Many Link Workers will be working from home or do not have access to EMIS so this will need to be performed over the telephone or via email, if permission is given.

If you wish to offer support directly to patients please see useful links below:

The guidance asks residents to contact their energy suppliers, to discuss options for keeping them supplied. This could include nominating a third party for credit top ups, having a discretionary fund added to their credit, or being sent a pre-loaded top up card so that their supply is not interrupted.

Eating

Eating healthily is easy in theory but a lot harder in practice especially if you're tired and rundown.

"The Doctor's Kitchen" (@doctors_kitchen) is run by a working GP and has some easy recipes and lots of beautiful pictures to inspire you. He's apparently just released the 'immunity' section of his book for free when you sign up to his newsletter.

Sleeping

Sleeping is another activity that's easier said than done. Apart from trying to get outside in the fresh air at least once every day and swapping to decaf (I know – heresy! – I find the Lavazza one quite palatable), I've found that two of the big meditation apps also have great sections to help aid sleep.

Headspace is an app I use a lot for meditation and when I'm woken by racing thoughts at 3am. Andy Puddicombe (@andypuddicombe) has a very soothing (English) voice.

Calm is another meditation app that's very popular, both it and Headspace have free trials for you to see if either of them will help you get to sleep (and also meditate!)

Exercise

The National Trust are hoping to open up their parks for free, so head to their wide open spaces (fine even if you are in self-isolation as long as you can get there safely) for some walking (which is apparently just as good for you as running)

We're aiming to open many of our gardens and parks for free during this difficult time, so the nation can use open spaces to relax and refresh, while following the government's social distancing guidance. We will be closing our houses, cafés and shops this week.

4:59 PM · Mar 17, 2020 · Hootsuite Inc.

A colleague is enjoying "Yoga with Adriene" at home.

And for those with a treadmill or a stationary bike, there's a free BitGym subscription available at the moment.

Mindfulness

I've already covered off a few mindfulness apps. A couple of books that I've found have inspired and encouraged me to meditate include the following (they also have accompanying apps that I haven't tried but are probably good).

10% Happier by Dan Harris: This is a book by an American news anchor who found meditation slowly and sceptically that is an easy read to turn you on to the benefits of mindful meditation.

Waking Up by Sam Harris: no relation to Dan (!) – this is a book about meditation from a well-known atheist who wanted to find spirituality without religion.

Self-isolation

Here is a massive list of things to consider doing while in isolation:

Seize the Opportunity of Home Quarantine

Instead of lamenting the hardship and boredom of this weird time in history, assume it is a blessing in disguise. Use it to rejuvenate, discover new passions and do those things you never have time for. Tick the ideas you're willing to try and share this list.

Volunteering/Community

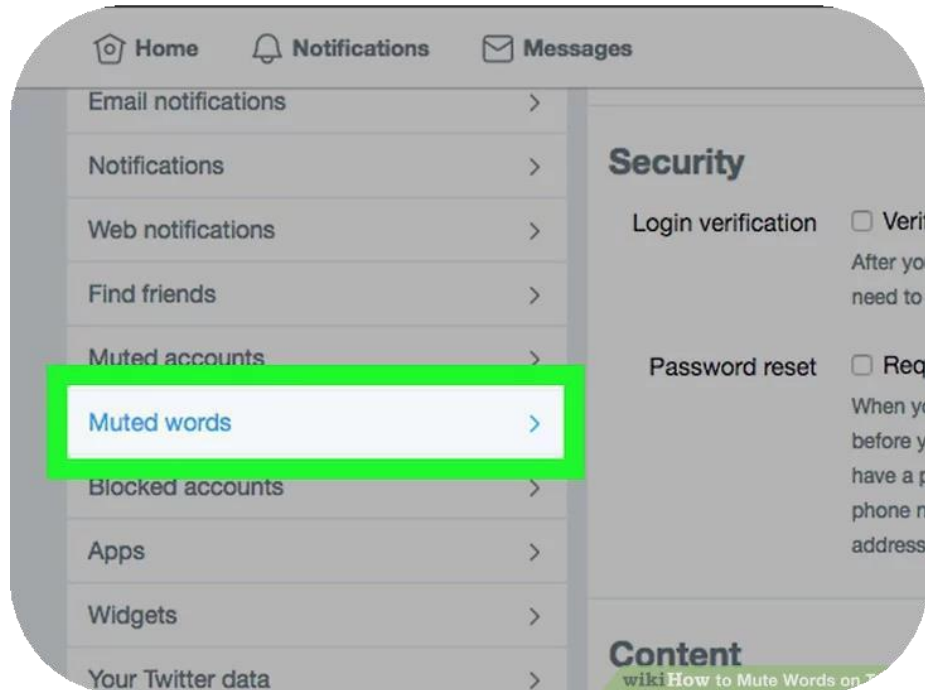

While just doing your 'day job' whether it's manning the phones or keeping the surfaces clean is doing plenty for your community, some people find peace in helping others.

- You can complete a very short SurveyMonkey link for Darren Jones (our local MP) to offer local help during the COVID-19 issues: <https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/COVID19help>
- And there is an option to sign up to volunteer in Bristol more generally through the main council website: <https://candobristol.co.uk/>

Media

While following the news especially via social media can make you feel connected, it can also become very overwhelming. Don't be afraid to switch off your phone (or at least put it in flight mode for a while¹). Remember, you can also mute words in Twitter (“covid”, “coronavirus”):

You can also choose to follow Twitter people with positive messages such as:

- Dr Rangan Chatterjee (@drchatterjeeuk)
- Simon Fleming (@OrthopodReg)
- Matt Haig (@matthaig1)
- Susan Calman (@SusanCalman)
- Sarah Millican (@SarahMillican75)

If it's all just too much, switching on to some feel-good television, listening to podcasts, or reading some books can be a good way to escape and calm the mind for a while. Some of my favourites include:

The Good Place is a fun, and surprisingly deep twenty minute episodic sitcom on Netflix about what's important in life and why what we do matters.

Podcasts I find particularly soothing and/or fun include:

- Desert Island Discs
- The Minimalists
- The Infinite Monkey Cage
- Feel Better, Live More

Books to try:

- Why We Sleep by Matthew Walker: A fascinating insight into how sleep works and why we need it – don't know if it's a good or a bad thing that this could probably count for training CPD credits (if you're a doctor) as well!
- Reasons to Stay Alive by Matt Haig: all of Matt Haig's books (both fiction and non-fiction) can be uplifting – this is probably one of his better-known ones

And perhaps just find joy in unexpected places on the web:

- Watch wildlife on live webcams: <https://therevelator.org/covid-19-wildlife-livecams/>

Overview-Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Contents

1. Overview
2. Stay at home advice

COVID-19 is a new illness that can affect your lungs and airways. It's caused by a virus called coronavirus.

Stay at home if you have coronavirus symptoms

Stay at home if you have either:

- a high temperature – this means you feel hot to touch on your chest or back (you do not need to measure your temperature)
- a new, continuous cough – this means coughing a lot for more than an hour, or 3 or more coughing episodes in 24 hours (if you usually have a cough, it may be worse than usual)

Do not go to a GP surgery, pharmacy or hospital.

Use the 111 online coronavirus service to find out what to do.

Use the 111 coronavirus service

Information:

Only call 111 if you cannot get help online.

How long to stay at home

- if you have symptoms of coronavirus, you'll need to stay at home for 7 days
- if you live with someone who has symptoms, you'll need to stay at home for 14 days from the day the first person in the home started having symptoms

If you live with someone who is 70 or over, has a long-term condition, is pregnant or has a weakened immune system, try to find somewhere else for them to stay for 14 days.

If you have to stay at home together, try to keep away from each other as much as possible.

HOW TO STAY SAFE DURING THE CONRONAVIRUS OUTBREAK – NHS ADVICE

How to avoid catching and spreading coronavirus (social distancing)

Everyone should do what they can to stop coronavirus spreading.

It is particularly important for people who:

- are 70 or over
- have a long-term condition
- are pregnant
- have a weakened immune system

Do

- wash your hands with soap and water often – do this for at least 20 seconds
- always wash your hands when you get home or into work
- use hand sanitiser gel if soap and water are not available
- cover your mouth and nose with a tissue or your sleeve (not your hands) when you cough or sneeze
- put used tissues in the bin immediately and wash your hands afterwards
- avoid close contact with people who have symptoms of coronavirus
- only travel on public transport if you need to
- work from home, if you can
- avoid social activities, such as going to pubs, restaurants, theatres and cinemas
- avoid events with large groups of people
- use phone, online services, or apps to contact your GP surgery or other NHS services

Don't

- do not touch your eyes, nose or mouth if your hands are not clean
- do not have visitors to your home, including friends and family

HOW TO STAY SAFE DURING THE CONRONAVIRUS OUTBREAK – NHS ADVICE

If you're at high risk

The NHS will contact you from Monday 23 March 2020 if you are at particularly high risk of getting seriously ill with coronavirus. You'll be given specific advice about what to do.

Do not contact your GP or healthcare team at this stage – wait to be contacted.

HOW TO STAY SAFE DURING THE CONRONAVIRUS OUTBREAK – NHS ADVICE

How coronavirus is spread

Because it's a new illness, we do not know exactly how coronavirus spreads from person to person.

Similar viruses are spread in cough droplets.

It's very unlikely it can be spread through things like packages or food.

Pregnancy advice

If you're pregnant and worried about coronavirus, you can get advice about coronavirus and pregnancy from the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists.

Travel advice

There are some countries and areas where there's a higher chance of coming into contact with someone with coronavirus.

If you're planning to travel abroad and are concerned about coronavirus, see advice for travellers on GOV.UK.

Treatment for coronavirus

There is currently no specific treatment for coronavirus.

Antibiotics do not help, as they do not work against viruses.

Treatment aims to relieve the symptoms while your body fights the illness.

You'll need to stay in isolation, away from other people, until you have recovered.

Hestia Bright Sky is a free to download mobile app, providing support and information to anyone who may be in an abusive relationship or those concerned about someone they know. The app is also designed to be used by specialist and non-specialist practitioners and other employers, and for anyone looking for information about issues around domestic abuse such as online safety, stalking and harassment and sexual consent. Freedom Together feel the app can be invaluable to both victims and practitioners, it allows male and females to access on hand information, advice and direct links to specialist services in your area, wherever you are. It is especially significant to those who are unable to talk about what is happening to them. We recommend that our service users, friends and family do their own risk assessment if they find it difficult to discuss their situation with others. They can confirm what they are experiencing and check out all the information available. It is important that people who are unsafe know there is an option when downloading that will allow them to disguise the App as a weather app- hence Bright Sky name. If you set it up correctly you cannot access the app unless you hold your finger on the app for 3 seconds, anyone else checking your phone will press the Bright Sky App and it will show the temperature.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

It includes:

- A unique UK-wide directory of specialist domestic abuse support services with contact details.
- A secure My Journal tool to record incidents of abuse via text, audio, video or photo form, without any of the content being saved on the device itself.
- Questionnaires to assess the safety of a relationship, plus a section on dispelling myths around domestic and sexual abuse.
- Links to further resources and information on topics around domestic abuse. It is available in English, Polish, Punjabi and Urdu.

DASV BULLETIN

Croydon's Domestic Abuse & Sexual Violence Bulletin

March 2020

The FJC response to Covid-19

The FJC remains open during this time. We continue to be available for drop in's and booked appointments. We are advising any clients who book an appointment that it might be completed over the phone in the event that we do have to close to the public. If this does take place, our policy is currently for IDVA's to work remotely from home whilst continuing to support victims/survivors over the phone and completing assessments.

Our number and opening hours remain the same. See information on PAGE 3.

Please advise any victims/survivors to call the police in an emergency.

If you are aware of a victim who is having to self isolate please reassure them that we will continue to support them with their safety planning.

Future Bulletins

Please let me know if there is anything you would like to feature or promote within these bi-monthly bulletins

Ciara.goodwin@croydon.gov.uk

The next Bulletin will be end of April 2020

Some of the things you can advise anyone you know living in fear:

Always keep their phone charged and close by

If you are feeling threatened in the house, try to go to low risk areas– places to avoid are the kitchen and bathroom

If you have a family member or a friend you can provide a safe word which informs them to call the police without your partner knowing (e.g I need my red jumper back?)

If you have neighbours you trust, inform them of what is going on, and ask them to call the police if they hear sounds of a violent attack.

Teach the children to call 999, if possible depending on age, to say their full name and address.

Iphone users can set up a quick emergency call button on the side of the phone. Make sure to turn the sound down

Encourage women to think about a safe place to go to, such a refuge, family or friends house.

Croydon's Domestic abuse service

What is the FJC?

The FJC is a centrally located resource offering a multi-disciplinary approach to services for victims of domestic abuse and sexual violence and their children. This service is open to all those experiencing abuse and can offer support at any stage of need. The FJC seeks to offer victims wrap around support and to prevent individuals having to go from agency to agency, telling their story repeatedly, in order to get the help they need.

The FJC is run by a multi-agency team that works to provide families with access to support by;

- Listening and responding to the needs of service users, including children, in a safe way.
- Facilitating access to a wide range of domestic abuse and sexual violence expertise, support and services in order to meet the needs of service users and their children.

The multi-disciplinary team provides:

- holistic assessment of need and risk;
- advice and support on all aspects of domestic abuse and sexual violence;
- Legal advice and support to obtain Non molestation orders
- support and advice to access emergency safe accommodation
- support to access specialist services and advice, including no recourse to public funding issues, support for children, and rape and sexual abuse;

- drop-in and appointment service
- A domestic abuse helpline for survivors and practitioners.

UPDATE ON CORONAVIRUS

Rape & Sexual Abuse Support Centre/Rape Crisis South London

Based on recent developments of the virus and information from the Government, I have had to make the very difficult decision, to protect both our workers and our clients, to suspend work from the office from 18th March 2020 for the foreseeable future. The measures are for all our staff to work from home, using their emails and mobiles to keep in touch with clients and contacts and to continue with administrative work. Counselling will be over the phone instead of face to face and our Advocacy Service will be supporting clients via email and telephone. All work with clients from home will be in a space that is strictly confidentiality and all records will be kept safely and securely. Staff working hours will continue to be from Monday to Friday from 10am to 6pm. There will be no change to our response to you but we will not be attending any external meetings.

The main email address is info@rasasc.org.uk and will be fully operational and responding to emails. For urgent enquiries please contact 07818 425 648 or leave a message on our main office line which will be checked periodically on 0208 683 3311.

As soon as I know that it is safe to come back to the office and we are resuming our normal services, we will make an announcement.

In the meantime keep yourselves safe.

Yvonne Traynor CEO RASA

UPDATE ON CORONAVIRUS

Women In Prison

In light of Government advice on Coronavirus, Women in Prison (WIP) has temporarily suspended all group work and ‘drop in’ sessions at our Women’s centres and hubs to reduce social contact and enable social distancing. We are working now to put in place the strongest one-to-one support possible from our staff for the women we work with, including those in prison, leaving prison and in the community. Where this is not possible in person, then this will be through phone and other means.

We are working with partners in the prisons, probation service, health, local authorities and other services to ensure that we play our part in the efforts to ensure there is support available for the most vulnerable individuals and families during the difficult weeks ahead

While we work as a staff team to look after our own safety and wellbeing and take care of our families, the needs of the women we work with will continue to be front and centre of all our plans. We know that our mission to provide essential support services has never been more important.

Should you want to discuss any matters further I am more than happy to assist.

Thank you for your understanding.

Donna Everett

Women’s Hub Coordinator (Sutton, Croydon & Wandsworth) South London Women's Hubs

HOMELESSNESS

A homeless person will need even more support during this time as they are not protected by way of a home or access to soap and water to follow the government & NHS guideline. In addition to this, they will not necessarily have access to a mobile phone or to the Internet so may fall behind in constantly changing updates.

MANAGING SAFETY AT HOME

Advice on the prevention of Coronavirus related scams

Report online at: www.met.police.uk or call 101.
In an emergency always call 999

Door to Door Coronavirus Testing

We have heard reports that people may be attending the addresses of the vulnerable and elderly by posing as door to door coronavirus testers. They are doing so in order to gain access to people's homes. Nobody, and specifically neither the NHS or the police, are conducting such tests. If anyone attends your address claiming to be conducting these tests, please call 999.

Bromley, Croydon and Sutton
Basic Command Unit

Please be very careful whom you answer the door to. The NHS, police and other essential services would NOT be testing you at home.

DONATION SCAMS

DO NOT SHARE your financial details with anyone on your doorstep. In fact, do not answer the door unless you have prearranged self-isolation non-contact for a delivery.

MANAGING SAFETY ONLINE

With most children now at home, it is more important than ever to apply parental settings on all devices and closely monitor their usage.

For adults, especially vulnerable adults, it is important that you avoid falling victim to online scams, which usually steals personal information by sending texts, emails or fake websites.

Self-employment and Universal Credit

Universal Credit is a monthly payment to help with your living costs. You may be able to get it if you're on a low income or out of work.

If you live in Northern Ireland, go to Universal Credit in Northern Ireland.

Find out if you're eligible for Universal Credit.

Providing information about your earnings

Everyone claiming Universal Credit needs to report their self-employed earnings at the end of each monthly assessment period. This includes company directors, even those paying themselves by PAYE.

You'll need to report payments into and out of your business in the assessment period. This includes:

- total amount your business received
- how much your business spent on different types of expenses, such as travel costs, stock, equipment and tools, clothing and office costs
- how much tax and National Insurance you paid
- any money you paid into a pension

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

What type of work counts for Universal Credit

All work is taken into consideration for Universal Credit. If you're expected to look for and be available for work, then it needs to be identified whether you're 'gainfully self-employed'.

Gainful self-employment means that:

- your main employment is self-employment
- you have self-employed earnings
- your work is organised, developed, regular and in expectation of profit

You must provide evidence about your business and earnings to your work coach, for example your:

- tax returns, accounts and any business plan
- Unique Taxpayer Reference (UTR), if you're registered for Self Assessment
- customer and supplier lists, receipts and invoices
- marketing materials

If you're gainfully self-employed you're exempt from job search responsibilities and can concentrate on growing your business and earnings.

If you're not gainfully self-employed, you'll need to look for other work. You still have to report any earnings from your self-employment. You can ask to be reassessed in the future.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

How your Universal Credit payment is worked out

If you're gainfully self-employed, your Universal Credit payment may be calculated using an assumed level of earnings, called a Minimum Income Floor.

It's based on what an employed person on minimum wage would expect to earn in similar circumstances.

If you earn more than this, then your Universal Credit amount is based on your actual earnings.

If you earn less, the Minimum Income Floor is used to work out how much you can get. You may need to look for additional work to top up your income.

If you want to know how coronavirus (COVID-19) affects the Minimum Income Floor, you can read the latest information about coronavirus and Universal Credit.

If you're both self-employed and employed

Your Universal Credit payment will be worked out using your combined earnings or any applicable Minimum Income Floor, whichever is higher.

If you're newly self-employed

If you're within 12 months of starting your business, you may be eligible for a start up period of up to 12 months.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

During your start up period your monthly earnings are used to work out your Universal Credit and the Minimum Income Floor doesn't apply. You'll also receive support from a work coach who's trained to work with the self-employed.

You'll need to attend quarterly appointments with your Work Coach, providing evidence to show that you're still gainfully self-employed and actively taking steps to build your business.

You're only entitled to one start up period, unless it has been more than 5 years since your previous one, and you've started a completely different type of self-employment.

Reporting changes in your circumstances

You'll need to report any change in circumstances, for example if you:

- close your business
- start a different kind of business
- take a permanent job
- are no longer able to work

Depending on the change, your gainful self-employment may need to be reassessed.

Subject: Topping up gas and electricity prepayment meters during COVID-19 - New Government Advice

Dear all,

Hope everyone is safe and well,

According to latest government figures 23670 Croydon households pay for their electricity using prepayment metres, needing to go to the shops to top up their meters. The government has just issued the guidance below about supporting residents using prepayment meters who cannot leave their homes due to the coronavirus/COVID-19. This guidance is for both gas [card] meters and electricity [key] meters

<https://www.gov.uk/government/news/government-agrees-measures-with-energy-industry-to-support-vulnerable-people-through-covid-19>

The guidance asks residents to contact their energy suppliers, to discuss options for keeping them supplied. This could include nominating a third party for credit top ups, having a discretionary fund added to their credit, or being sent a pre-loaded top up card so that their supply is not interrupted.

OFGEM have just added the information below to their website

<https://www.ofgem.gov.uk/coronavirus-covid-19/coronavirus-covid-19-and-your-energy-supply>

Please forward this information to colleagues who may receive queries from residents.

E-vouchers for food:

We are able to award e- vouchers for the following supermarkets:

- Next day delivery: Tesco, Sainsbury's
- Within 2 working days: Morrison's
- Within 3 working days: Asda

Residents can then take that email e- voucher to the supermarket to use to buy essential items

Emergency living expenses for gas/electric:

- We are able to support residents who pay their gas and electric via a key card
- We would need a mobile number for you or alternatively a trusted friend/family/neighbour
- You can then go to your local newsagents who display the pay point sign to top up

info@freedomtogethercic.co.uk

Self-soothing and being kind to yourself list

- ✓ Acknowledge things feel difficult
- ✓ Light a scented candle or oils
- ✓ Bring air into your home, open windows
- ✓ Write at least one page in your journal of thoughts you may want to dump
- ✓ Place a small pebble/ object that is special to you in your pocket or bag
- ✓ Make your bed with care so when you are ready to rest it is waiting for you
- ✓ Let yourself know that you are taking care as much as you can
- ✓ Have a bath put bubbles/ scent in especially for you

WELLBEING, MENTAL HEALTH & MANAGING ISOLATION

- ✓ Say 'NO', every time you can say NO to something you do not want to do. You are saying YES to your selfcare and what you need
- ✓ Write a supportive comforting letter to the small part of you
- ✓ If you are shopping swap an item for one thing you like that is healthy
- ✓ Tell yourself that you are entitled to feel as you do – it is a NORMAL reaction to abnormal experiences
- ✓ Spend an extra 15 minutes with your pets
- ✓ Try and drink one extra glass of water
- ✓ Cream or oil your skin/hands and face – take time and acknowledge your own kindness to yourself
- ✓ Wear a comforting piece of clothing/shoes etc
- ✓ Watch a programme or feel good film
- ✓ If you can, tell a safe person that you are struggling today, this week
- ✓ Replace one hour of social media with reading a magazine or book or listen to an audio book
- ✓ Prepare or cook a meal that you enjoy
- ✓ Tell yourself you are braving these feelings and you are going to try your best to be kind to yourself until it passes
- ✓ Try to eat at meal times- even something small if it is a struggle or try a healthy drink
- ✓ Put your feet into soapy water for 10 minutes, dry them and cream them
- ✓ Look through photos of healthy happy memories in your life
- ✓ Write one page in your journal of where you would like to be in a year's time in your recovery- be as positive as you like!
- ✓ Let yourself sleep if you need the rest but also try 1 thing from this list before your nap and 1 after
- ✓ Book a massage or take 20 minutes to massage your own feet and hands- use cream or oil
- ✓ Listen to your favourite music artist
- ✓ Listen to meditation, even if it is difficult to settle breath into the session
- ✓ Drive to an area/ place where you like the scenery
- ✓ Have a walk or run and acknowledge how being active is important to help your brain work
- ✓ Sing out loud in your car or home
- ✓ Call a helpline for support- Samaritan's, you deserve to be supported
- ✓ Punch a pillow and acknowledge you have feelings you deserve to release
- ✓ At the end of the day before you shut your eyes acknowledge with warmth that you have struggled and that you are going to hold yourself with kindness every step that you can

Once your emotions have settled. Make a note of what you did to get through and add to your emergency tool kit/box for the next time. Remember it takes time and practice, sitting with distress takes immense courage!*
